

architecture

space

colour

when architectural design becomes personal

designing architecture creating interiors using colour intelligently

To work out the right solution for the client from an abundance of possibilities – ideas, desires, materials, colours and textures that result in a coherent overall concept. Those are the daily challenges ZK faces and that usually lead to astonishingly simple, plausible outcomes. Never an end in itself or superficial aesthetics – but space, form, colour and function developed from the circumstances, requirements and wishes of the client.

good architecture is innovative

aesthetic

unobtrusive

honest

durable

functional

consistent

attentive to detail

THE OFFICE

We are two architects and designers,

HEINRICH ZÖSCHG and ALEXANDER KARNUTSCH, and we live in Lana near Merano, South Tyrol.

Two generations, two characters, from two worlds. What unites us is our passion for design. Our goal is to turn the wishes of our clients into individual architecture. The skillful interaction between architecture, space and colour creates a convincing ensemble. The architectural office ZK has been working on tailor-made buildings and interiors for 15 years. Understanding the needs, focusing on the essentials, using simple forms, relating to the landscape, combining old and new, are the guidelines of our work.

PROJECTS

“In retrospects, appealing buildings and interior solutions always look as if they couldn’t have been done any other way. This can only be achieved through personal discussions and meticulous tinkering. Tinkering is our passion”.